Countable/uncountable nouns

A In inglese i sostantivi si dividono in due gruppi: sostantivi numerabili (countable nouns) e sostantivi non numerabili (uncountable nouns).

B I sostantivi numerabili si possono contare singolarmente:

a/one car

two cars

three cars

C I sostantivi non numerabili, invece, non si possono contare singolarmente. Ne fanno parte i nomi di sostanze e alcuni nomi astratti.

Sostanze				Nomini astratti
rain	pioggia	salt	sale	luck	fortuna	advice	consiglio/i shampoo	shampoo	bread	pane	happiness	felicità	patience	pazienza
water	acqua	steel	acciaio	excitement	emozione	health	salute

Sostantivi numerabili

- hanno forma sia singolare che plurale:
pen → pens
- possono essere preceduti da a/an, the, some o da un numerale:
a pen the pens some pens two pens
- il verbo che li accompagna può essere nella forma singolare o plurale:
The bag is heavy. The bags are heavy.
La borsa è pesante. Le borse sono pesanti.

Sostantivi non numerabili

- hanno una sola forma.
bread
Non hanno forma plurale.
- possono essere preceduti da the o some ma non da a/an o da un numerale:
the bread some bread ✓bread
- il verbo che li accompagna è sempre al singolare:
Your advice was invaluable.
I tuoi consigli sono stati preziosi.

D Per quantificare un sostantivo non numerabile si può:

1) indicare una quantità indefinita con some, any o no (v. Unit 43):

I need some flour.

Ho bisogno di un po' di farina.

Is there any bread?

C'è del pane?

You've got no patience.

a bar of soap
